

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Coaches Studio, LLC, creators of the Throwing Buddy, announces resale partnership with Joe Barth and The Hit Doctor® Baseball Academy.

Canton, GA – January 25, 2016 – Coaches Studio and The Hit Doctor® have teamed up to bring the Throwing Buddy to the mid-atlantic area. The Hit Doctor® Baseball Academy is the concept of National Director Joe Barth Jr., head coach of the Brooklawn American Legion Baseball team from 1978 - 2000. Joe Jr. and his son, Bob Barth, are considered by both college and professional coaches to be among the finest coaches and baseball instructors in America today. Their Tri-State Arsenal Program is considered one of the top travel baseball organizations in the country. Over the years, the Barths have sent thousands of youngsters on to college and professional ball. UGA Pitching Coach Fred Corral believes that “this is a great opportunity for the thousands of kids that run through Joe Barth’s camps and programs. Now they will have the ability to use the Throwing Buddy to practice what he teaches them on a regular basis on their own. This will give those players that take advantage of the Throwing Buddy a competitive advantage.”

The Hit Doctor® camps have been an overwhelming success from coast to coast, because we have always been dedicated to maintaining the highest quality of instruction, while keeping the fun in the game we love. One of our primary goals is to help restore the game of baseball to its former stature as America’s greatest pastime. We believe that teaching kids the proper way to play, thereby enabling them to enjoy some measure of success, will naturally instill in their hearts a love for the greatest game ever invented.

The Hit Doctor® camps address every facet of baseball, with instructional techniques and drills unlike anything the average player has ever seen. The individualized training systems we've developed go far beyond anything normally offered in a camp situation. They are designed so that, when a player participates in a Hit Doctor® camp, he emerges with a workable program he can stay with for the rest of his career. “With the Throwing Buddy, that workable program can now be implemented by all the pitchers that come through our camp without having to rely on the need for a partner” says Joe Barth.

The Hit Doctor® camps are always evolving. We seek out and test new ideas and drills at each position from top coaches all over the USA, so that the Hit Doctor® programs always remain fresh and current. We are proud to present what we consider to be The Ultimate Training Programs for Young Players. “To have Joe Barth and his organization get behind the Throwing Buddy reinforces the Coaches Studio vision. This is a tremendous opportunity to partner with one of the most respected coaches and instructors in baseball today and bring a best in class training tool to the young athletes coming through his program” says Coach Herb who invented the Throwing Buddy.

About Coaches Studio: Coaches Studio produces training and educational products and services designed to prepare, develop, protect, prehab and rehab the arm while helping athletes increase velocity, improve strength, and develop and master solid mechanics while reducing the risk of injury. Herb Stover is the Inventor, Founder and CEO of Coaches Studio. He has coached, studied and collaborated with top instructors, researchers and doctors specializing in baseball, mechanics and injuries/injury prevention with a passion for utilizing high speed video, bio mechanics and other technologies to help advance and improve the way athletes can learn, develop and train. Later generations of the Throwing Buddy currently in development will provide additional data points through self-contained sensors and electronics, which capture data such as axis of ball rotation, wrist and forearm angle, velocity, and spin rate. This data is stored, transmitted and displayed on an electronic device such as a phone, tablet or computer for real time observation by the player and or coach and tracking workouts and progress over time.
